

Marketing

Utilizing the tools for marketing that provide maximum exposure for your home is key in the selling process. As your REALTOR I will review all of the marketing strategies that may be used to sell your home and together we can decide on a plan that will work best for your property. A few key tips to remember is to allow a "For Sale" sign on your yard and being accommodating for viewing times. These two strategies can greatly increase the number of prospective buyers seeing your home and can have a positive impact on your bottom line. There are many more marketing strategies and I would be happy to sit down with you and discuss in order to develop a plan that best suits your needs as a seller.
